Treatment Foster Care

Pre-Service Training Series

Given their experiences, many foster children need additional supervision, stability and care, often at a moment's notice.

Along with a knowledgeable social worker able to connect our foster families with all the resources and support they require, Youth Alternatives Ingraham provides the necessary training needed to prepare parents and ensure success with each child-family placement.

Since 1982, our foster families have created safe, loving homes for these children in transition. In addition to trainings, our team organizes foster family discussion groups, advocacy projects and social gatherings; assists with licensing and paperwork; and arranges respite care to keep families connected and nurtured.

2009 Summer Pre-Service Trainings begin September 19th. Free of charge. All meals and materials included.

Taking the first step to foster parenting begins with our comprehensive 6 session training program.
